

ABA BJ Puzzle of the Week: 9/15/11

Mobility: Puzzle

The mobile device has revolutionized so many functions, including banking and payments. Does anyone under 20 ask for directions or consult an atlas anymore? When was the last time you used a pocket calendar? Took a picture with a real camera? Will the mobile device become a universal gadget for everything? Maybe it has. But so far you still have to do your puzzle the old-fashioned way. By the way, you'll find several clues in the September ABA Banking Journal's cover story; if you don't have it, you can find it online at www.ababj.com

Fax your completed puzzle, with name, bank, title, and e-mail, by 5 PM, Wednesday, Sept. 21, to 212-633-1165, to participate in a drawing for a $25 gift card from Amazon. Good luck! scocheo@sbpub.com

Mobility: Across Clues

ACROSS

- 2. In spite of mobile devices being leading edge, this function, no matter how recently renewed, is always dated.
- 6. Self-centered communications device.
- 8. These little slips of paper, in pink, brown, or tan, used to be ubiquitous in offices. But now voicemail and mobile devices have rendered them nearly extinct.
- 10. Mobiles provide all kinds of freedom, and yet their power depends on this captive technology.
- 11. In old sci-fi movies, a human-like robot with at least a rudiment of simulated thought. In many of today's handhelds, a software system that does many things most of us have never thought of.
- 12. With this function, all you can do is take your best shot.
- 16. A mobile phone app that tells you where to go. An angry co-worker can fulfill a similar role.
- 18. The Blackberry default alarm theme, or, a horned, leaping quadruped with a name which is descriptive of its gait.
- 19. A quiet way to learn someone's trying to reach you, even if it isn't earth shaking.
- 20. You have to charge this whether your credit is good or not.
- 21. What the "p" in "p2p" stands for.
- 22. Means of conversing by phone without actually talking at all. Get this and we'll be your BFF.

Mobility: Down Clues

DOWN

1. Mobile phone software that does any of thousands of things we used to do without having a Blackberry or iPhone.
2. Joint venture in mobile technology by Bank of America, Wells Fargo, and JPMorgan Chase, described on p. 35 of the September ABA Banking Journal.
3. Back in the day we all got by with simple bells or buzzers, but now these audio notifications allow us to express our individuality. Those around us may become annoyed and express other things.
4. Many handhels have them, but they won't start your car.
5. Many mobile devices permit bankers to take part in these web-based conversational and sharing platforms.
6. Type of communication where, apparently, all you have to do is add water
7. A seemingly never-ending source of 24-hour airborne missives.
9. Portable, handheld fruit.
13. A wearable chip described on page 36 of the September ABA Banking Journal.
14. Still home of the iPhone, but now not so much of Jobs.
15. Gradually this electronic payments function of mobile providers and financial providers may dictate the need for new markets for cowhide suppliers.
17. Your handheld's visual interface device.
